

Here's the "thank you" that went out to the community after we had purchased and begun using the blocks...

May 7, 2013

We love our new blocks!

At meeting today after playing with the blocks for the first time, the kids reflected on what they appreciated about them...

Reyna: They stick together perfectly so they won't fall.

Noam: You can carry them from one place to another

(Note: just like the kids did today when they combined the new and old blocks on the bike deck to make one giant obstacle course on the bike deck).

Kai: They are useful!

Gwen: They make great obstacle courses.

Casey: There are LOTS of them!

Zella: You can build and play with them.

Lauren: There are plenty to share with everybody.

Justice: You can use them to pretend.

Everett: Everybody can use them!

Alex: To make EVERYTHING!

Justice: They have cool shapes.

Gabby: They're beautiful.

Reyna: They're shiny, like my fingernail polish.

Casey: It's really good the way they connect. With two sides plain and two sides made for connecting.

Gwen: You can use them to build chairs and houses.

Everett: It's nice because you can stick them together on the sides or on the tops.

Reyna: You can spy through the holes.

Noam: I like the circles on the sides.

Lauren: All the shapes let you build any way you want.

(I offer the kids the word "Versatile.")

Gwen: There are stumps and holes and the stumps fit into the holes.

(Gwen and I agree that they are like giant wooden legos).

Reyna: They are hard enough to sit on and you can build a high chair.

Everett: You can make high towers.

Alex: BIG towers!

Lauren: They are fun!

Kai: So many parents helped us buy them!

Kai is right – so many Parents – and so many old friends, and grandparents, and friends of friends... And to all of you, we say "THANK YOU!"
